Churchmen Say U.S.-Soviet Accord Slim

Military Strength Labeled Essential By Christian Leaders

CLEVELAND (AP) — After three days of discussion, prayer, sermons and debate, a national church conference today had reached these tentative conclusions:

1. That American-Soviet differences are "so fundamental" and "lack of confidence on both sides so deep and stubborn" that any accord "appears impossible at the present time."

2. That "military strength is essential" to meet the threat of Soviet totalitarianism, but aiding the spiritual and physical welfare of all men is "in the long run even more basic."

3. That "the free societies must make every effort to negotiate workable agreements without compromise of basic convictions" and seize every chance to "develop even a temporary easing of tensions."

4. That Americans, as "brothers in Christ" with all peoples, "must learn to accept other nations not only as partners but also as instruments of judgment on our national action."

5. THAT THE nation must pursue programs of help to needy lands, recognizing that "plenty of the few and want for the many cannot be reconciled with the law of love."

These points were part of a 4,000-word proposed declaration, hammered out during deliberations of four separate sections, and still subject to a final vote before the delegates end their conference.

The main items, however, had been worked over and approved in representative group sessions, each including more than 100 members of the 450 delegates to the National Conference on the Churches and World Order.

The draft message gave thumping support to the United Nations as "the basic framework through which our nation should seek its security and world law as ordained by God."

There are "forces which would lead us to withdrawal and isolation," they declared, adding:

"As Christians and citizens of the United States we have an inescapable obligation to support the United Nations as the body most essential to the freedom of nations and the peace of the world."

5 Counties Join List In Asking Rebate

DEFIANCE (AP)—Van Wert, Hancock, Fulton, Mercer and Williams have joined the bandwagon of Ohio counties seeking recovery of funds collected by the state's conservancy districts.

The five sued yesterday for return of $66,006 from the Maumee Watershed Conservancy District. Allen County already has a suit in Defiance County Common Pleas Court seeking a refund from the district and asking that the district be prohibited from spending any more money.

All of the suits result from last spring's Ohio Supreme Court ruling that the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District had no right to collect revenues for flood control from land owners without voted permission of the member counties.

Eleven witnesses called by Allen County yesterday testified the Maumee district's levy was listed as "special assessment" on their 1951 tax receipts.

The supreme court ruled the so-called district assessments are actually taxes — therefore needing voter approval.

Judge James L. McCrystal tentatively set Dec. 17 or 18 for oral arguments on the suit by Allen County to stop expenditures.

Air Force Claims New Speed Record

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Air Force claimed today to have wrested back from the Navy the world speed record for level flight.

Col. F. K. Peter Everest, 33, of Edwards Air Force Base, flew a North American Super Sabre 754.98 m.p.h. yesterday over a nine-mile course along the Salton Sea. Fastest previous time was 753.4 m.p.h. by Lt. Comdr. James Verdin of Patuxent, Md., earlier this month in a F4D Skyray.

Reds Lose Power, Senators Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communists have "lost heavily" in membership and trade union support in Western Europe during recent years, a Senate foreign relations subcommittee said today.

The 60-page study surveys the strength, tactics and objectives of the Communist movement throughout the world, country by country.

While the report said Red strength in Western Europe reached a peak prior to 1947 and since has declined, it expressed no complacency about the Red menace there or elsewhere.

On the contrary, Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) said in an introduction that "perhaps the most basic impression which will arise from this study is the very rapid growth of the Communist movement."

Latin America — Communist party membership has fallen from some 330,000 in the 1944-47 period to about 200,000. The party is now "officially suppressed" in 12 of the 20 Latin American countries and "in none is it an important electoral factor."

Middle East—Except potentially in Iran, the Communist parties here "still lack the strength to alter the structure of society by revolutionary action."

Countians To Vote On 17 Special Issues In Tuesday Election Here

Pickaway Countians will settle a total of 17 special issues when they go to the polls in Tuesday's general elections.

However, only one of the local special issues will face county voters as a whole, that one a special levy asked for the continued hospital care of county tuberculosis patients.

That issue, seeking a three-tenths of one mill fund for a period of five years, will be on every ballot in the county on Tuesday. Authorities say the special levy should provide somewhat more than $20,000 per year for 13 patient care.

Sixteen other special money issues will face voters in various township and school district areas.

SCHOOL LEVIES will be decided by voters in the county will be:

Muhlenberg Township School, seeking four mills for five years for operating expenses;

Washington Township School, seeking two mills for five years for expenses;

Monroe Township School, seeking two mills for five years for expenses;

Pickaway Township School, seeking two mills for five years for expenses;

These prove I couldn't have passed the light at Pearl and Ann streets," Quayle said.

That's true, said the judge, but found Quayle guilty anyway.

The judge pointed out Quayle was charged with passing the light at Asylum and Ann streets, not Pearl and Ann Streets. Sentence was suspended.

New Holland School, seeking 4.5 mills for five years for expenses;

Ashville School, seeking 4.7 mills for five years for expenses; and Walnut Township School, seeking 3.4 mills for five years for current expenses.

Voters in three townships will decide on special tax levies designed to provide fire protection.

Pickaway, Washington and Circleville Townships each are asking one mill for two years to provide fire protection.

New Holland village voters will be asked to decide upon a tax levy and a bond issue. A one mill levy

General Clark To Get Salute

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tall, lanky Mark Wayne Clark, just one day away from doffing his general's uniform, draws a final salute today from the Army he served more than 30 years.

The last senior U. S. commander of World War II to end his active duty career, the 57-year-old soldier is being honored late today with a parade and reception at Washington's Ft. McNair.

Reprise Given Dovie Dean; Son Said To Be Real Killer

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today postponed the scheduled execution of Dovie Blanche Dean from Nov. 6 to Jan. 15 pending a study of her case.

The Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission yesterday heard Mrs. Dean's appeal for clemency. The governor said he would not give final decision on Mrs. Dean's fate until after he received the commission's recommendations and had made a study of testimony at Mrs. Dean's trial.

A statement issued by John W. Keefe of Cincinnati, Lausche's clemency secretary, said:

"A reprieve was given to afford the governor full and complete opportunity to examine and study the case after he receives the report and recommendation of the commission which heard an appeal for clemency.

The opinion of the parole board can mean life or death to Mrs. Dean. Her only hope for escape from the electric chair is clemency from the governor. The supreme court has refused to review her case.

Mrs. Dean, 55, is in Marysville Reformatory for Women under

If it's between my son and me, I'll take the blame."

She once accused him of the murder, they continued.

The lawyers said their plea regarding Carl could not be classified as legal evidence.

The opinion of the parole board can mean life or death to Mrs. Dean. Her only hope for escape from the electric chair is clemency from the governor next year.

He still is considering it, he said today, but now is leaning more toward the idea of running for reelection. He said he thought his chances of re-election in the 18th district were excellent.

RED CELL IN U. S. NAVY DEPARTMENT UNCOVERED

Commies Shun American Plan For Peace Talk

Special Envoy Agrees To 'Think Over' Red Views On Subject

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Communist diplomats today called an American proposal for setting up the Korean peace conference "absurd, a trick, absolutely unacceptable" and pushed preliminary talks deeper into deadlock.

Although the Red refusal was less caustic than usual, they made it clear their answer was not to U. S. Ambassador Arthur Dean's plan to fix a time and place for the conference now and talk about its composition later.

Unruffled by the Red rejection, Dean agreed to a Communist request that he think over their views. The meeting recessed until tomorrow.

The Communists insisted that composition of the conference be decided before anything else. They have proposed that five non-belligerents—Russia, India, Burma, Pakistan, and Thailand—sit in on the conference.

The Allies have stood firm so far by their plan that the conferences include only the nations which have fought in Korea, plus Russia if the Chinese and North Koreans invite her.

Estimates have been made that the Communists will propose to send 10 major airfields and 20 secondary landing strips and spirited in the planes, Choi said.

MEANWHILE, stubborn, anti-Red Korean War prisoners broke another, longer deadlock by agreeing to listen to Communist efforts to persuade them to come home.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the prisoner repatriation commission, said the first 500 of 7,800 Koreans will meet Red interviewers Saturday, ending a two-week holdout that threatened the entire persuasion program.

ROK Air Chief Says Reds Pouring Planes Below Yalu

TOKYO (AP)—The chief of South Korea's air force said today the Communists have spirited 400 fighter planes into North Korea in violation of the armistice and based them at 30 newly repaired air fields.

The U. N. Command has complained to the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission that the Reds have shipped warplanes into North Korea in violation of the truce.

An inspection team was instructed to investigate the complaint, but no final report has been filed.

Earlier, the 5th Air Force reported tracking on radar Communist planes flying southward into North Korea immediately after the armistice went into effect.

$7,175 Steer Missing From Display Spot

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Dorothea's Pride, the grand champion steer of the American Royal Livestock Show is missing—all 1,190 expensive pounds of him.

The animal, for which Berl Berry, Kansas City automobile dealer, paid $6,03 a pound last week, was on exhibition at a two-week show.

As soon as the truce went into effect the Reds quickly repaired two-thirds of them MIGs.

Choi stopped here en route to the United States where he will tour Air Force installations and confer with military officials.

The Korean truce signed last July 27 bans the movement of planes into Korea except as replacements. The armistice does not restrict the repair and construction of airfields.

Fear that approval of a special amendment to provide one-half billion dollars for construction of major thoroughfares in Ohio would leave county and township roads with no money for improvements and maintenance has caused county engineers throughout the state to ask voters to decide a gain in the amendment in Tuesday's elections.

The special amendment is sought to provide funds for the large state-operated roads from funds derived from sale of license tags, motor fuels and state highway revenues.

According to the county engineers, the amendment is to provide repayment of a mortgage bond issue for the one-half billion dollar project at the rate of $125 million per year—with the $125 million to be taken out of highway improvement funds before any other distribution is made.

County engineers point out this method of repayment might mean that it is possible the county roads funds, also derived from the same means as proposed by the amendment for payment of the state highway projects, might face major cuts every year.

The objection seems not so much in the principal amount of the revenue bonds but in the money which will be necessary in interest to repay the loan. The County Engineers' Association of Ohio recommends a continued program of "pay-as-you-go" for the construction of the big highways.

Ex-Russian Officer Testifies
25 Soviet Rings In U. S. In '41

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Velde (R-Ill) said today a supersecret Communist cell of at least 13 persons had access to vital Navy Department secrets during World War II.

Velde, chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, said the full story of Communist infiltration in the Navy Department will come as a "terrific surprise to people" when it can be told in full.

The Navy had no comment. Nor was there any report on whether the Red cell still exists in the Navy department.

The House committee has heard eight witnesses in the case, and Velde said at least five others remain to be heard. He said three of the total are women.

"The full expose of the case will have to be delayed for the present time for security reasons and to prevent any interference with justice," Velde stated.

He did not elaborate on this. The committee yesterday disclosed that the investigation involves Morton Sobell, convicted of espionage along with Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

THE ROSENBERGS were executed in June. The espionage charged to Sobell did not include atomic secrets, and he was sentenced to 30 years imprisonment.

In New York Wednesday, a former Russian intelligence officer testified that there were up to 25 Red spy rings in the United States in 1941 and they "may have expanded considerably during World War II."

He said Amtorg, the Russian trading agency, forwarded espionage reports to Moscow through diplomatic channels.

Reds Lose Power, Senators Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communists have "lost heavily" in membership and trade union support in Western Europe during recent years, a Senate foreign relations subcommittee said today.

Middle East — Except potentially in Iran, the Communist parties here "still lack the strength to alter the structure of society by revolutionary action."

Wiley is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee and of its security affairs subcommittee, for which the study was prepared.

It said that, although Communist party membership in Western Europe has dropped heavily, the Reds have succeeded in maintaining electoral strength in Italy, France and Iceland.

Wiley commented, however, that "very often, large Communists votes, as in France and Italy, represent not so much pro-Communist votes, as anti-government votes." But he cautioned that a small, highly disciplined Red group can succeed "in a wrecking operation."

In the 16 countries of Western Europe, the report said, the Communist parties have an estimated three million members and in national elections poll about 13 million votes.

Observations in the report about other areas of the world included:

Asia — "In general, the strength determination, and stability of Asian non-Communist governments has significantly reduced the strength of indigenous Communists. However, international developments could at any time reverse a favorable trend."

He told newsmen after the 52-minute session that despite the lack of progress at this fifth meeting there was "generally a better attitude in the discussions."

At today's meeting, Dean suggested the dispute over admission of nonbelligerents might be tossed to the conference itself.

But he repeated that he is willing to exchange views on composition if agreement first is reached on a time and place.

The American lawyer told the Reds in sooths words that by negotiating first on the "simpler subjects" like time and place the delegates might "create more harmonious working relations."

peace conference discussions did not seem to mar Dean's optimism.

He told newsmen after the 52-minute session that despite the lack of progress at this fifth meeting there was "generally a better attitude in the discussions."

At today's meeting, Dean suggested the dispute over admission of nonbelligerents might be tossed to the conference itself.

But he repeated that he is willing to exchange views on composition if agreement first is reached on a time and place.

The American lawyer told the Reds in soothing words that by negotiating first on the "simpler subjects" like time and place the delegates might "create more harmonious working relations."

County Ready To Study Law On Restaurants

Pickaway County will take an official look Friday afternoon at the new statewide regulations which call for a license system and inspection of restaurants.

The county board of health will discuss the new regulations, along with other matters, in meeting. Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, said the district at the present time has about 40 restaurants outside Circleville.

Regulations to govern the new setup have been sent to all boards of health by the state health department. Responsibility for the inspections was transferred by the last legislature from the fire marshal's office to the health department.

New standards for eating places will be compulsory, on a license basis, after Jan. 1. Officials have explained, however, a reasonable length of time will be permitted to make any changes necessary.

They emphasized that no licenses can be obtained at this time. Announcements will be made when the certificates are available.

Leaving Accident Brings $100 Fine

Charles Cullums of E. High St. was fined $100 and costs Thursday before the court of Mayor Ed Amey for having left the scene of an accident Wednesday night.

Cullums was arrested by Officers Ludwell Mills and Rod List, who

Three key signatures were needed in the latest ill-fated venture to clear a "detachment" action—withdrawal of the city limits so the state could begin surveys without crossing more than a small section of city property.

The deadlock became apparent when only two of the signatures could be obtained.

New Science Project Seeking Secrets Of Memory Process

ATLANTA (AP)—Government scientists have launched a new project striving to tap the secrets of the brain's memory process — as a by-product of a surgical operation to aid epileptics.

Dr. William H. Sebrell Jr., director of the National Institutes of Health (NIH), Bethesda, Md., related this to the Southern Medical Assn., whose 47th annual meeting ends today.

He cited the project as an example of the type of work being done at NIH's recently opened clinical research center.

There, selected sufferers from various major diseases are given "the best possible" treatments — but only as a part of a broader effort to improve these treatments, and to increase science's knowledge of the basic processes of life, both in sickness and in health.

Dr. Sebrell said that in recent years an operation was developed which has shown great promise in

Commie Beauty Rules Different

CHICAGO (AP)—former Czechoslovakian beauty queen says present beauty contests behind the Iron Curtain are not the same as in the United States.

"The Communists are trying to set new beauty standards based on points gained for girls' work for the party," said the former Nikki Nicolai, who was Miss Prague of 1946.

"Perfect legs or bust measurements don't count any more compared to distributing so many thousand pamphlets or meeting a quota in a factory. Communist 'beauty' judges are more interested in how many bricks a girl can lay in a day than looking at her eyes."

Miss Nicolai is the wife of Robert V. Johnson, a Chicago engineer whom she met while he was a soldier in Europe.

TV's Influence On Readers Cited

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—The Rhode Island Library Assn. got a disconcerting report on how young people's reading habits are affected by television.

Miss M. Isabelle Hall, Providence high school teacher, surveyed sophomore reading habits and got these student comments:

"A masterpiece is something I don't understand."

"Books give you an idea of how to get into trouble but never tell you how to get out of it."

"I'm going to read a book sometime. Last night I saw a quiz show and the contestant didn't get a jackpot because he hadn't read a book."

Ironton Unable To Seat Jury

IRONTON (AP)—Alfred Robinson, 26, and William Saunders, 27, were sentenced on manslaughter charges Wednesday after a common plea court judge gave up finding enough jurors to try them for first degree murder.

The men originally were charged with first degree murder in the robbery-beating of Karl Williams, 41, Grabh, Ky., last July 4. But in two days of questioning 125 prospective jurors, only 10 were seated.

Ninety-two were excused because they said they objected to capital punishment.

Saunders and Robinson drew 1-20 year terms in Ohio Penitentiary.

Chicago Waif To Get Better Yule This Year

CHICAGO (AP)—Christie, the little waif who was rescued from a garbage can last Christmas season, will have a real home for Christmas this year.

Christie was found by police in a garbage can behind a South Halsted St. butcher shop last Dec. 6. He weighed only seven pounds, but has advanced to a chubby 19 pounds today.

Christie—named because of the season during which he was found—was taken to Englewood Hospital, where he became the darling of the nurses. He later was transferred to St. Vincent's Infant and Maternity Hospital, but the nurses never forgot him. Recently four new Christies a whole new outfit of clothing.

The Catholic Home Bureau now has found a good home for Christie, who will be adopted.

World Today

By James Marlow
Associated Press
News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — After two news conferences in which reporters tried to pin him down, President Eisenhower's role in the 1954 congressional elections is still vague. He has made it vague.

He has indicated he doesn't want to be very active in the campaign. But he has left the door open in case he decides he must take a bigger part in the elections than he now seems to think necessary.

Before election day in November 1954—because of necessity and Republican pressure—he may have to jump in, hip-deep. There's a lot at stake for him, his administration and the Republican party.

Control of Congress depends on the outcome. If the Democrats win, Eisenhower will have to deal with them, and depend on them for support of his program in the two remaining years of his term.

He has a record of showing distaste for the rough and tumble of politics—until he's pushed. Then he can dig in with energy. He demonstrated that in the presidential race.

His early speeches in the 1952 campaign were less than bloodthirsty. This so alarmed his supporters that some told him bluntly he was running like a dry creek.

After that, he made a slam-bang campaign. Judging from what he has said at his news conferences, he seems to think he can sit out most of next year's campaign quietly in the White House.

But if the Republican leaders push or persuade him into more activity, he may not find the going as mild as he did in 1952. Then he was a war hero, and the Democrats treated him gently.

They have mostly continued to treat him gently. If he gets too antagonistic toward them in 1954, he may find himself pelted like any other politician.

It would be nice—especially for Eisenhower—if he could go through four White House years without getting the slugging which is the lot of any president.

It's possible that Eisenhower, so far as an untried and heroic figure in American history, is conscious of what may be in store for him if he gets too aggressive politically from now on.

Former President Truman rolled up his sleeves and barged into congressional elections. That isn't what Eisenhower says he has in mind. On the contrary, he says he doesn't think a president should do it.

In his Oct. 21 news conference he said:

He has no intention of going out and getting into partisan struggles in any district or state because he thinks people might resent such intrusion.

This vision of the President sitting down while they were out battling for control of Congress didn't sit well with some Republicans. And in his Oct. 28 news conference Eisenhower indicated he

Bender's Panel Plans Hearings On VA Loan Deal

CLEVELAND (AP) — Congressman George H. Bender said today his House subcommittee on public accounts will hold public hearings here soon to investigate reports of irregularities in the way the Veterans Administration handles its home loan program.

The Ohio Republican said two investigators have been studying VA accounts here for several weeks, and are prepared to offer evidence of irregularities. Arthur Toll and Niles Garrick, the investigators, said they have received excellent cooperation from the VA.

Among the irregularities the investigators said they discovered were:

The case of a VA employee reporting he made 40 inspections of property in one day at a fee of from $5 to $10 per inspection. Toll said 40 inspections daily is impossible, with the average being four to six a day.

Errors in elementary arithmetic which made a difference of as much as $1,000 on a single house appraisal.

Actress Shuns Footprint Record

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lauren Bacall has declined to record her footprints in wet cement in the Grauman Chinese Theater forecourt.

"To me, the Grauman's Chinese has always meant the peak," she said. "The people who have their footprints there should be irreplaceable and never to be forgotten. I'm neither."

Husband Humphrey Bogart commented the argument with:

"It's her sincere belief and I think she's right. There are too blasted many meaningless awards and medals in this town."

He added somewhat meekly that he recorded his footprints a few years ago.

might do a little more than sit quietly at home.

Now it seems, from what he said, he may make some nationwide broadcasts in behalf of Republicans in general. In some cases he might even put a particular Republican on the back.

The President said the best thing he can do for his party in 1954 is engineer a program that will attract the voters to the Republicans.

Retail prices of food products in

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail food prices in 1954 will average close to this year's level, the Agriculture Department predicted today.

And, the department said, farmers probably will receive about the same share of the consumer's food dollar—a share estimated at 45 cents for 1953.

Food supplies about as large as in 1953 are in prospect for 1954, the department said.

"With no marked change in prospect for consumer income, the demand for food is likely to continue strong," the department said. It made separate forecasts on the food situation and marketing costs.

The relative stickiness (slowness to fluctuate) of food processing and marketing costs will also tend to maintain retail food prices," it added.

The estimate that the farmer got 45 cents of the consumer's food dollar in 1953—2 cents less than in 1952—is the lowest since 1941. But it is higher than in most pre-World War II years.

WASHINGTON (AP) — After two news conferences in which reporters tried to pin him down, President Eisenhower's role in the 1954 congressional elections is still vague. He has made it vague.

He has indicated he doesn't want to be very active in the campaign. But he has left the door open in case he decides he must take a bigger part in the elections than he now seems to think necessary.

Before election day in November 1954—because of necessity and Republican pressure—he may have to jump in, hip-deep. There's a lot at stake for him, his administration and the Republican party.

Control of Congress depends on the outcome. If the Democrats win, Eisenhower will have to deal with them, and depend on them for support of his program in the two remaining years of his term.

He has a record of showing distaste for the rough and tumble of politics—until he's pushed. Then he can dig in with energy. He demonstrated that in the presidential race.

His early speeches in the 1952 campaign were less than bloodthirsty. This so alarmed his supporters that some told him bluntly he was running like a dry creek.

After that, he made a slam-bang campaign. Judging from what he has said at his news conferences, he seems to think he can sit out most of next year's campaign quietly in the White House.

But if the Republican leaders push or persuade him into more activity, he may not find the going as mild as he did in 1952. Then he was a war hero, and the Democrats treated him gently.

They have mostly continued to treat him gently. If he gets too antagonistic toward them in 1954, he may find himself pelted like any other politician.

It would be nice—especially for Eisenhower—if he could go through four White House years without getting the slugging which is the lot of any president.

It's possible that Eisenhower, so far as an untarnished and heroic figure in American history, is conscious of what may be in store for him if he gets too aggressive politically from now on.

Former President Truman rolled up his sleeves and barged into congressional elections. That isn't what Eisenhower says he has in mind. On the contrary, he says he doesn't think a president should do it.

In his Oct. 21 news conference he said:

He has no intention of going out and getting into partisan struggles in any district or state because he thinks people might resent such intrusion.

This vision of the President sitting mum while they were out battling for control of Congress didn't sit well with some Republicans. And in his Oct. 28 news conference Eisenhower indicated he

Food Prices Seen Holding Steady In '54

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail food prices in 1954 will average close to this year's level, the Agriculture Department predicted today.

And, the department said, farmers probably will receive about the same share of the consumer's food dollar—a share estimated at 45 cents for 1953.

Food supplies about as large as in 1953 are in prospect for 1954, the department said.

"With no marked change in prospect for consumer income, the demand for food is likely to continue strong," the department said. It made separate forecasts on the food situation and marketing costs.

"The relative stickiness (slowness to fluctuate) of food processing and marketing costs will also tend to maintain retail food prices," it added.

The estimate that the farmer got 45 cents of the consumer's food dollars in 1953—2 cents less than in 1952—is the lowest since 1941. But it is higher than in most pre-World War II years.

Retail prices of food products in the January-August period this year averaged 2 per cent below the corresponding period of 1952, but charges for marketing these foods averaged slightly higher, the department said.

THE SCRIPTURES TEACH LOVE OF GOD AND OBEDIENCE TO HIS LAWS

Scripture—*Genesis, 1:27-28; Deuteronomy, 6:4-9; Proverbs, 22:6, Matthew 19:3-9; Luke 10:38-42; Ephesians 5:21-6:4; II Timothy 1:5-7, 3:14-17.By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE SUBJECT of founding and maintaining happy Christian homes is even more important than was the war against alcohol, which we studied last week. It, too, is a problem as old as mankind. When we read of the ancient Israelites, we find that they, too, were confronted by domestic difficulties. Husband and wives did not always agree; children did not always grow up to become fine, moral men and women, of whom their parents could be proud.

What do the Scriptures say regarding these things? Read Deuteronomy 6:4-9:

"Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord."

"And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart:

"And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up."

MEMORY VERSE

"God setteth the solitary in families."—Psalms 68:6.

God is love, and if love rules a home, how can there be discord? Isn't this the ideal of the Christian home, as God planned it?

We have had the episode of the Pharisees' tempting Jesus by asking Him His views on divorce in a recent lesson, but it is particularly pertinent to this lesson also. "Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for any cause?" they asked Him. His answer was:

"Have ye not read, that He which made them at the beginning made them male and female. And said, for this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife, and they twain shall be one flesh."

"Therefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

It is almost inconceivable that two persons who have been joined together with the solemn marriage ceremony that all religions use, can break the vows they took—frequently for trivial causes—the vow to cleave to each other in sickness and health, in riches or poverty, as long as they both shall live. Broken homes are the cause of so much tragedy.

Our Scripture readings in this lesson give us glimpses of happy homes. The one in which Jesus was a guest in Bethany was one, we surmise, because the Lord was a frequent visitor there. Martha, the older sister, was an example of true eastern hospitality.

She it was who invited Him into their home, and busied herself in preparing a meal for the guest. I think most women sympathize with Martha who felt she was "cumbered about much serving," and think her reproof of Mary, who sat at the Lord's feet listening to Him, was justified.

However, there is Mary's side too. Possibly Martha was planning a too-sumptuous meal involving much labor, and Mary may have thought the precious Words she was hearing were more important than preparing an elaborate meal. And, too, she may have been planning to aid her sister when Jesus had finished what He was saying. At any rate, Jesus pointed out to Martha that such labor was not necessary to a happy home atmosphere, and Mary had chosen the better part.

We may know wives and mothers who work so hard to keep their homes spotless, that to their husbands and children it can be a home where they can be at ease.

In writing to the Ephesians, Paul set forth his ideas for a happy home. He says, "Wives submit yourselves unto your own husbands." This does not mean that a wife should give up her own personality, we may assume. Where husband and wife love each other and have mutual respect, there is no discrepancy.

Children should obey their parents, and honor them, and fathers are told not to provoke their children. Deep mutual love and understanding in a happy Christian home would naturally lead to these conditions. God is love, and love of Him and each other must necessarily make homes happy.

Timothy, that young man on whom Paul looked as on a son, was brought up in such a home. Paul writes him that "from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus."

"All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness."

"That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works."

Cat And Trust Fund Given Girl

ELGIN, Ill. (AP)—Miss Jane Freeman, 21, will get a 7-year-old black Persian cat today and won't have any worries about buying it milk and food.

The cat, Tommy, was owned by Mrs. Lena Ruth Rankin, 70, widow of a Farmer City, Ill., farmer. When she died Aug. 31 she left a $2,000 trust fund for her pet, the income of which was to go to whomever gave Tommy a good home. Several people applied, but Mrs. Rankin's lawyer decided on Miss Freeman, who had asked for Tommy before Mrs. Rankin's will was filed.

Woman Refuses To Oblige Thugs

IRVINGTON, N.J. (AP)—Two hold-up men pushed a note at a woman bank teller and growled, "Be quiet. Fill the bag with bills."

Miss Mary Olney, assistant secretary at the Paluska Savings & Loan Assn., threw the note back and sheek her head.

She turned, walked 15 feet to an office, closed the door and telephoned the police.

The bandits fled.

What do the Scriptures say regarding these things? Read Deuteronomy 6:4-9:

"Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord."

"And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart:

"And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up."

MEMORY VERSE

"God setteth the solitary in families."—Psalms 68:6.

God is love, and if love rules a home, how can there be discord? Isn't this the ideal of the Christian home, as God planned it?

We have had the episode of the Pharisees' tempting Jesus by asking Him His views on divorce in a recent lesson, but it is particularly pertinent to this lesson also. "Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for every cause?" they asked Him. His answer was:

"Have ye not read, that He which made them at the beginning made them male and female. And said, for this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife: and they twain shall be one flesh."

"Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder."

It is almost inconceivable that two persons who have been joined together with the solemn marriage ceremony that all religions use, can break the vows they took—frequently for trivial causes—the vow to cleave to each other in sickness and health, in riches or poverty, as long as they both shall live. Broken homes are the cause of so much tragedy.

Our Scripture readings in this lesson give us glimpses of happy homes. The one in which Jesus was a guest in Bethany was one,

The cat, Tommy, was owned by Mrs. Lena Ruth Rankin, 70, widow of a Farmer City, Ill., farmer. When she died Aug. 31 she left a $2,000 trust fund for her pet, the income of which was to go to whomever gave Tommy a good home. Woman Refuses To Oblige Thugs

IRVINGTON, N.J. (AP)—Two hold-up men pushed a note at a woman bank teller and growled, "Be quiet. Fill the bag with bills."

Miss Mary Olney, assistant secretary at the Pulaski Savings & Loan Assn., threw the note back and shook her head.

She turned, walked 15 feet to an office, closed the door and telephoned the police.

HALL WAS ON PAROLE
EVERY TIME A PAROLEE becomes involved in a major crime there is an outcry against the system. Such an outcry has been raised in Missouri, where Carl Austin Hall, who had been paroled from the state penitentiary after serving part of a five-year sentence for robbery, is facing the death penalty for the kidnaping and murder of little Bobby Greenlease. It is obvious, of course, that if Hall had been forced to serve his time the boy would have been alive today.

Governor Donnelly of Missouri has ordered an investigation into the circumstances surrounding Hall's parole — and there should be an inquiry. It is possible that the parole board was careless, or worse. It is also possible that the board acted with propriety but that its members were not well informed, or overloaded with cases, or that the officer assigned to Hall could not do an adequate supervisory job for one reason or another. Such weaknesses should be exposed, if they exist, so that they can be corrected.

There is danger that public emotions will be stirred to such a point that there will be demands for outright abolition of the parole system. However, such demands can usually be met. It is almost invariably the case that a parole system, even a system that falls far short of perfection—as most of them do—can prove its right to exist. A poor system is at least better than no system; a good one is much better.

After all, most convicts do not stay in prison permanently. Hall would have been released within a relatively short time even if he had not been paroled. The cure for such tragedies is not abolition of the parole system, but better methods of taking the criminally inclined out of circulation for good.

MCCARTHY COMEBACK

METROPOLITAN NEWSPAPERS of leftist hue which blossomed with—in fact, invented—the word "McCarthyism" as a description of what they considered the nation's greatest menace, have dropped the word because it backfired. The public, regaled with news of the McCarthy committee's latest discoveries at Fort Monmouth, N. J., it was feared, regarded "McCarthyism" as something completely desirable and commendable.

Those who never liked the cut of Joe's jib have no greater affection for him today. But this time even the bellwether of the anti-McCarthy flock, the New York Times, has weakened, at least temporarily. Perusal of recent issues fails to unearth the term "McCarthyism" anywhere in its pages.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Alexander Orlov worked in the Supreme Court of Soviet Russia; he became a diplomat and was the Russian counter-intelligence chief in Spain during the Spanish Civil War. He was in the OGPU (NKVD). In Spain, he was adviser to the Spanish Republican government on matters relating to counter-intelligence and guerrilla warfare behind the enemy lines.

When he saw that many who had been Stalin's colleagues and whose loyalty was unquestionable were being murdered, he escaped before his number came up. For many years, he has been in hiding.

Aleander Orlov has now written a most valuable book, "The Secret History of Stalin's Crimes," which has been published by Random House. It is an objective report, written about men he knew and worked with, whom he characterizes with intimacy and understanding.

He establishes the authenticity of his material in this and subsequent paragraphs:

"I have written down the directives which Stalin personally gave to the NKVD chiefs at the conferences in the Kremlin; his instructions to the NKVD inquisitors on methods of breaking the resistance of Lenin's friends and extorting from them false confessions. I have recorded Stalin's personal negotiations with some of his victims and the words actually spoken by the doomed men behind the walls of the Lubianka Prison. I obtained these closely guarded secrets from the NKVD interrogators themselves, some of whom had, in the past, been subordinate to me. Among them was my former assistant Mironov, chief of the Economic Administration of the NKVD, who had been one of Stalin's chief aides in the preparation of the Moscow trials and Boris Berman, deputy chief of the Foreign Department of the NKVD."

The character of Stalin stands out like a horrible, frightening nightmare; this man was devoid of all moral qualities. He killed his wife; he hated his eldest son, who disappeared in Germany during World War II; he killed his brother-in-law; he killed his two most intimate personal friends; he killed his political associates; he killed the men who did the killing for him, Yagoda and Yezhov; he killed the women and children of the families of the men he killed.

Names, dates, trials, purges, conversations, reports, all are given in this book with a calm objectivity that becomes a profile of the debasement of human nature.

The impression that I got from reading this book is that all of Stalin's murders were unnecessary, even from self-interest, and therefore could only have been the product either of a disordered, homosexual mind, or that the man lived in such fears that he could assuage them only by constant self-inciting acts of torture and murder.

One of his instruments was Andrei Vishinsky, now the Soviet representative at the United Nations, to whose dastardly ability Dr. Charles Mayo called attention in his brilliant United Nations speech.

Orlov and Vishinsky worked together in the Supreme Court. Vishinsky, who attacks our country regularly with filthy venom, was, in his younger years, a bootlicker, an apple polisher, a vindictive careerist. And the facts are given in detail.

Infants and Children Require Special Care During Surgery

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DURING surgery, to treat a child as an adult can at times lead to disaster.

When surgery is performed on infants, a special type of care and operative management are demanded. The younger the child, the more special it must be.

Effect of Shock

The young child has not yet developed the ability to cope with severe environmental stress. The smaller the infant, the greater the difficulty he may have in fighting the shock of an operation. The temperature mechanism of the child is very unstable. His breathing and heart actions are also unstable and his different systems are very fragile.

All these considerations must be taken into account before surgery is attempted. Overwhelming difficulties, even in the simplest operation, can develop rapidly in an infant.

A child several months old can withstand an operation better than a newborn baby, and a full-term baby will do much better than a premature one.

For most heart conditions, surgery, as a rule, is put off until the child is past infancy and the most dangerous period of surgery is thus avoided. In necessary surgery for poliomyelitis and other such diseases in children, the utmost care is always needed.

During and following a surgical procedure, a child must be kept under the careful guidance of the physician and hospital staff. Pneumonia and other lung diseases can develop at a moment's notice. Special cooperation is necessary between the pediatrician and surgeon. Sedatives and pain-relieving drugs can only be used in very limited amounts when administered to infants.

In view of the problems involved, operations on children must always be performed with extreme caution and care. In most cases, the end results will then be satisfactory.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. G. H.: Can children recovering from chickenpox infect others, if they have very few scabs remaining on their body?

Answer: The scabs are probably free from contagion.

"What may I do for you, Miss Van Vliet?"

Nancy motioned to Moira and seated Moira flounced into a chair, her short skirt revealing shapely legs to her knees.

Linda assumed her society voice.

"I read of your shop, Miss Kelly. I was SO interested. It's lovely."

"I glad you like it."

"Do hope you succeed."

"I shall."

Nancy's direct blue eyes looked into Linda's green ones. There was a world of determination in Nancy's two words. She hoped Linda got it.

"May I look around, see some of your things?"

"Do Mrs. Eustis will take care of you."

Nancy turned to Moira. Moira held her hand high, assumed a lofty expression, offered Nancy two fingers, and spoke in what was meant to be an eastern accent.

"C-h-a-r-m-e-d to meet you, Miss Kelly. I read of your shop. I was SO interested."

She stood up, assumed her natural voice.

"Note to that kind of stuff. She's the top lady who was in Phil Stanley's bunch that night down at the Auditorium. Remember how Terry Todd's nose bled all over her Schiaparelli model?"

Moira laughed raucously.

"Moira, please."

She steered Moira into the fitting room, handed her a fashion magazine, and went back to her customer. During the next ten minutes Nancy was too busy to notice what had become of Linda Van Vliet. When she returned to the fitting room where Moira was so absorbed in the magazine that she mechanically flicked cigarettes toward, and missed, a tray, Nancy assumed Linda had satisfied her curiosity about the shop and left.

As soon as Nancy returned, Moira started talking.

"Please, Moira, not so loud. You're not in a forty-acre lot. There may be someone in the next fitting room."

Moira lowered her voice slightly.

"Oh, all right. What is this, a funeral parlor or something, that I have to whisper?"

Nancy ignored the remark.

"I thought you and Sam were in Florida."

Linda, in the next fitting room, observing the effect of a gown that Mrs. Eustis had brought her, suddenly lost interest in it, in everything but the conversation in the adjoining room. She pressed her ear against the thin wallboard partition. She almost stopped breathing. She hoped to heaven that Mrs. Eustis would stay away until she got what Moira was saying.

When it is asked why, in view of popular knowledge of the Aleman administration grafting, the offending politicians are not prosecuted, the explanation is simple. The present president of Mexico, Adolfo Ruiz Cortines, is Aleman's protege. Although Cortines has promised an honest and efficient administration, he will undertake no cleanup prosecution of his predecessor.

A child several months old can withstand an operation better than a newborn baby, and a full-term baby will do much better than a premature one.

Answer: The scabs are probably free from contagion.

ger, as a rule, is put off until the child is past infancy and the most dangerous period of surgery is thus avoided. In necessary surgery for poliomyelitis and other such diseases in children, the utmost care is always needed.

During and following a surgical procedure, a child must be kept under the careful guidance of the physician and hospital staff. Pneumonia and other lung diseases can develop at a moment's notice. Special cooperation is necessary between the pediatrician and surgeon. Sedatives and pain-relieving drugs can only be used in very limited amounts when administered to infants.

In view of the problems involved, operations on children must always be performed with extreme caution and care. In most cases, the end results will be satisfactory.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. G. H.: Can children recovering from chickenpox infect others, if they have very few scabs remaining on their body?

Highway Bond Issue Backers Said Confident

Half-Billion Dollar Issue To Face Ohio Voters Next Tuesday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Boosters of a $500 million dollar bond issue to speed arterial highway building predict solid approval by voters in Tuesday's election.

A spokesman said the forecast stemmed from widespread sentiment for a proposal to change the state Constitution so the bonds could be issued.

He asserted the sentiment prevailed in the face of opposition by Gov. Frank J. Lausche who urged road building on a pay as you go basis, instead of pledging future tax revenues to hurry construction. Lausche pointed up the objections of many bond issue opponents.

The proponent's spokesman was J. Russell Lloyd of Columbus, chairman of a statewide group known as the Adequate Highways Amendment Committee.

Lloyd is secretary of the Ohio State Automobile Assn., the first of 16 such organizations to endorse the highway speed-up proposal.

Represented on the highways amendment committee besides Lloyd's association are these organizations:

Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants, Ohio Automobile Dealers Assn., Ohio Trucking Assn., Ohio Petroleum Marketers Assn., Ohio Chamber of Commerce, Ohio Municipal League, Portland Cement Assn., Ohio State Pharmaceutical Assn., Ohio Dairy Products Assn., Ohio Assn. of Retail Lumber Dealers, Ohio Hardware Assn., Petroleum Industry Committee of Ohio, Ohio State Medical Assn., Ohio Assn. of Real Estate Boards and Ohio Hotels Assn.

Amendment committee members have concentrated their campaign in 17 counties casting more than 20,000 votes in "off-year" elections but Lloyd said 58 clubs are active in more than half of Ohio's 88 counties.

Campaigners use radio and television programs, newspaper and billboard advertising, direct mail and speakers at various meetings. Lloyd said all those mediums are used in Dayton and many of them in other major cities.

Leading Cleveland department stores included bond issue literature in their packages and mail, he reported, while in Columbus the auto club concentrated on appeals by mail.

The last legislature placed the proposal on the ballot to give all voters the final say on the big bond issue. Because the bond issue would exceed the $750,000 state debt limit fixed in the Constitution, voters must approve the change.

If a majority of voters call for the bond issue, the Legislature will be required to return in session next January to get the arterial road construction program under way.

Legislators must approve actual issuance of the bonds, limited to no more than 125 million dollars worth a year, and give final sanction to the various construction projects.

No bond could be issued after March 31, 1962, and all must be paid off by 1972.

Lloyd explained that the highway bonds would be different from those issued to pay bonuses to World War II veterans. The state treasury stood behind those bonds. The highway bonds would be retired from new taxes on gasoline and trucks that already are in effect.

Lausche opposed going into debt to the tune of a half billion dollars at a time when the Northern Ohio Turnpike is under construction and a Cincinnati-Connawat turnpike is at the talking stage.

He said the east west turnpike would help relieve traffic congestion and that pay as you go construction was a sounder way to finance other new roads.

But bond issue proponents contend present major highways are deteriorating faster than they can be rebuilt under pay as you go.

The reason, they said, is a 50 per cent increase in Ohio motor vehicle registrations to 3,438,000 in the last decade. The result, they indicated, was a jump in state highway accidents from 19,933 to 28,526 in the last five years and in traffic deaths from 737 to 891.

To opposition arguments that bond interest will be a heavy burden to taxpayers, proponents assert that savings on maintenance and repairs needed to keep roads usable would more than offset interest expense.

The Highways Amendment Committee claims the bond issue would give Ohio the roads it needs in 10 years instead of 20 years under pay as you go. It sums up its arguments on the proposal this way:

Vote yes—to ride while you pay; vote no—to wait and ride after you pay.

Brownell Lashes Information Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell is urging all groups concerned with freedom of information "to seek out and oppose any operation of government which causes information to be withheld unnecessarily," he says:

"By this kind of cooperative effort, we can demonstrate to all the world the vivid contrast between our system of government, which believes in and encourages freedom of the press and all media of information, and the Communist system of tyrannical government, for which the concept of freedom of information is anathema."

Bond Issues Hiked

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio State University Bureau of Educational Research say the value of this year's school bond issues total $141,900,864. Last year the total was $69,542,352.

Newspaper Here To Stay, TV Commentator Says

NEW YORK (AP) — To one TV news commentator, at least, the newspaper is here to stay.

The commentator, John K. M. McCaffrey of the National Broadcasting Co., put it this way in opening the second annual Joseph Medill Patterson lecture series at Fordham University last night.

"You can tuck your newspaper under the arm and read it wherever you want."

TV must use a feature technique in reporting the news because the expense of being on the spot with mobile cameras is prohibitive, McCaffrey said.

Besides, he said, the commentator has only a limited amount of time on the air, while "in a newspaper you can spend as much time with any section of the newspaper as you wish."

Lush Profits Reported By U.S. Industry

Combined Earnings Run 18 Pct. Ahead Of Same Period Last Year

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The boom—ending or not—has brought golden profits to many industries. Earnings statements now pouring in show that nearly three out of every four companies did better in the first nine months this year than in the same period a year ago.

Their combined earnings, so far, are running 18 per cent ahead of last year.

Giant General Motors, sparked by big auto production and by defense orders, turned in 17 per cent higher profits after taxes—and taxes topped one billion dollars. Its net income for the nine months at 453 million dollars makes it the most profitable industrial firm in the world. The motors group as a whole is running 16 per cent ahead.

The first 350 corporations to report show that combined after-tax profits total $4,081,110,209, compared with $3,464,993,177 in the first nine months of 1952.

But 100 didn't do as well this year, reflecting in many cases a turn-down in their particular industries which started some time ago and seven ran in the red—the same number as did last year.

Hundreds of more statements are yet to come, and the earnings final picture may be different. Many of the companies also showed they were slowing down in the last few months. Their booming business early in the year colored the nine months report.

Steel companies show the greatest increase over last year, as was expected due to the big strike pulling them down in 1952. They are running 73 per cent ahead this year. Increased prices and near capacity output pushed some to near record highs.

Rails are 9 per cent better off in the profits column than a year ago, helped by good traffic and higher rates. Many, however, show that September gross revenues declined.

Others showing good gains this year include metalworking companies, aircraft, auto supplies, electrical appliances and chemicals—all hitched in, to greater or lesser extent, with the defense program.

Even textiles show profits 24 per cent better than a year ago—but mainly because last year was so bad. Four textile companies operated at a loss so far this year.

Utilities, serving a growing population and a booming business world, pulled profits 12 per cent higher this year.

Coal leads the casualties with a 57 per cent drop in profits, compared with last year. Competition with other fuels, surplus stocks above ground, and higher operating costs plague the mines.

Farm equipment dropped, reflecting the decline in farm incomes. Drug companies made 10 per cent less profit this year. Here growing competition and in some instances over-supply of miracle drugs took a toll.

Although the over-all list shows healthy gains, there wasn't an industry group in which every company did better this year. Even the booming steel industry showed three small companies down a little, due to special conditions.

Third quarter earnings, in many cases, weren't as good as second. And some doubt is expressed over fourth quarter earnings topping those of a year ago by much of a margin.

But when the entire year is tallied, 1953 may well look like a better one profit-wise than 1952.

"Halloween is just around the corner, and the traffic goblins will get you if you don't watch out."

This isn't an idle threat from the kindergarten set, it's a deadly serious warning from State Patrolman Bob Greene of Circleville.

Greene pointed out that youngsters are likely to let safety rules go by the board in the excitement of scaring and being scared on Halloween. He said many of the child fatalities and injuries which occur on this holiday are caused by youngsters dashing out into the street, often dressed in dark costumes and wearing masks.

"Masks prevent the children from seeing clearly," Greene said, "and dark costumes prevent the motorist from seeing them. It would help a lot if parents would try to get the kids to take off the masks when they go outdoors. Parents also should see that the youngsters wear only light-colored costumes or outfits trimmed with white or reflectorized material."

Greene urged parents to band together to see that sufficient parties and gatherings are provided to keep youngsters entertained. If this is done, he said, there will be little inclination for them to go roaming the streets.

He also reminded motorists to keep a constant look-out for children and to be especially careful when driving in residential areas. Motorists also are urged to be on the lookout for obstructions on the highways which might bring injury to themselves.

Lineman Injured During Nightmare

CUSHING, Okla. (AP)—Johnny Hilyard, turning up with a dislocated knee, sheepishly told coach Melvin Skelton he suffered the injury dodging an onrushing blocker during a nightmare.

The hefty 180-pound center said he didn't think he could play tonight against Bristow High School. "You can order light practice," moaned the coach, "but how are you going to keep them from dreaming?"

Yank Coach Lauds Japs' Sportsmanship

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma Basketball Coach Bruce Drake, now back home from a Far Eastern tour, said the Japanese "put us to shame on sportsmanship." "The Japanese referee is king. Nobody questions him."

Drake, who conducted coaching clinics for the Army in Japan and Hawaii for 30 days, said he found the sport there to be the epitome of amateurism.

Touring with two other coaches, Tippy Dye of Washington and Ray Oosting of Trinity, Drake said he found a highly competitive spirit and more sport for its own sake than is found in this country.

Game-fixing scandals, such as those which rocked basketball in the United States, would be impossible in Japan, he implied.

"Before the game," he said, "the opposing teams huddle and cheer for each other, then line up in mid-court facing each other and bow politely twice. They repeat this after the game too. There is no boozing."

Because the country is so sports-minded, Drake said, the U. S. Army believes the best way to improve international relations with Japan is through basketball and other games.

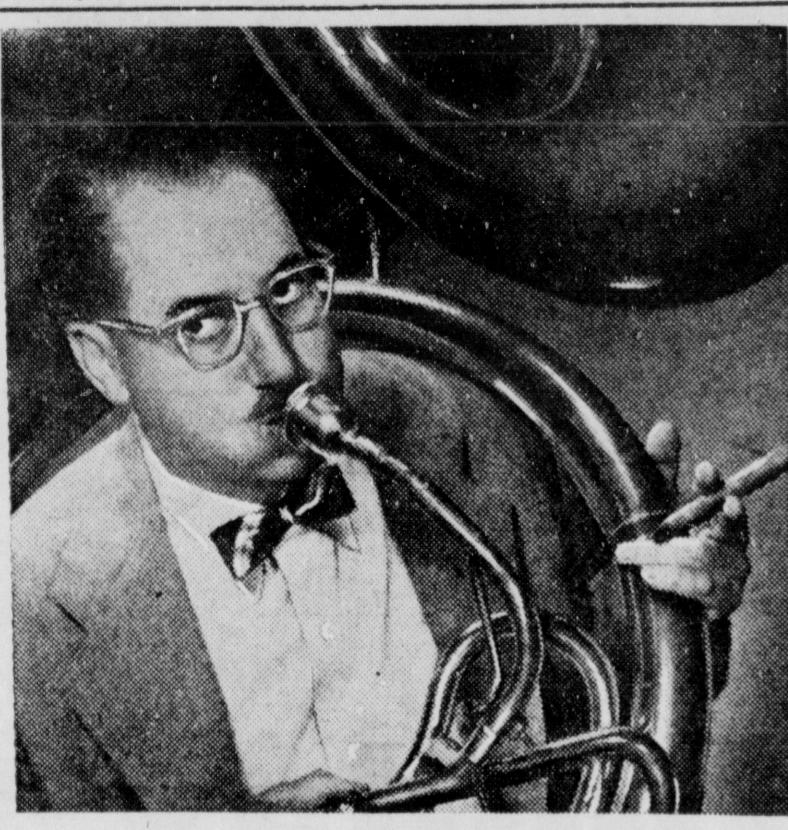

The joke about the dumb college athlete falls flat there, he says, for this reason:

"There are no eligibility problems in Japan. All students think it is criminal to flunk or cut classes. They think it is a disgrace to their ancestors."

Miami Leading College Punters

NEW YORK (AP)—Miami University of Ohio has taken over the team punting leadership among the nation's small college football teams with a 44.7 yard average. Lawrence, Wis., is second with 43.6 yards and Bowling Green State, Ohio, is third with 41.9 yards.

In team total offense, Miami is third with a 41

Lineman Injured During Nightmare

CUSHING, Okla. (P)—Johnny Hilyard, turning up with a dislocated knee, sheepishly told coach Melvin Skelton he suffered the injury dodging an onrushing blocker during a nightmare.

The hefty 180-pound center said he didn't think he could play tonight against Bristow High School. "You can order light practice," moaned the coach, "but how are you going to keep them from dreaming?"

Yank Coach Lauds Japs' Sportsmanship

NORMAN, Okla. (P)—Oklahoma Basketball Coach Bruce Drake, now back home from a Far Eastern tour, said the Japanese "put us to shame on sportsmanship." "The Japanese referee is king. Nobody questions him."

Drake, who conducted coaching clinics for the Army in Japan and Hawaii for 30 days, said he found the sport there to be the epitome of amateurism.

Touring with two other coaches, Tippy Dye of Washington and Ray Oosting of Trinity, Drake said he found a highly competitive spirit and more sport for its own sake than is found in this country.

Game-fixing scandals, such as those which rocked basketball in the United States, would be impossible in Japan, he implied.

"Before the game," he said, "the opposing teams huddle and cheer for each other, then line up in mid-court facing each other and bow politely twice. They repeat this after the game too. There is no boozing."

Because the country is so sports-minded, Drake said, the U. S. Army believes the best way to improve international relations with Japan is through basketball and other games.

The joke about the dumb college athlete falls flat there, he says, for this reason:

"There are no eligibility problems in Japan. All students think it is criminal to flunk or cut classes. They think it is a disgrace to their ancestors."

Miami Leading College Punters

NEW YORK (P)—Miami University is taking over the team punting leadership among the nation's small college football teams with a 44.7 yard average.

Lawrence, Wis., is second with 43.6 yards and Bowling Green State, Ohio, is third with 41.9 yards.

In team total offense, Miami is third with a 416.6 yards per game average. McPherson, Kan., is first with 445.2 and the College of Idaho is second with 417.7.

Bernard Hewitt of Gettysburg, Pa., became a full fledged jockey the day he scored with Blue Tail Fly. The rider won his first race aboard the same horse last July 16 at Monmouth Park.

Fordham Ace Wins Battle Against Polio

NEW YORK (P)—Fourteen months ago he was a few short gasps from death-paralyzed, helpless, aflame with fever and already given the last rites of the church.

Tomorrow afternoon at the Polo Grounds he'll snatch up a helmet from the field and take his place in the Fordham backfield against the University of Miami (Fla.) football team.

This is the almost unbelievable story of Jack Hyatt, 22, left half-back and co-captain of the Fordham Rams.

On Aug. 24, 1952, the blond Jersey City, N. J., athlete was stricken with an attack of bulbar polio. It was the kind of blow which would fell an ordinary man.

While lying in bed, choked with mucus and burning with a 107-degree temperature, he heard an attendant tell another not to change the bed clothes—"he won't live long anyway." He was conscious when a priest administered the last rites.

"It got me," he said later. "I was determined to pull through."

Hyatt's recovery was miraculous. Still, it seemed impossible that he could ever play another game of football.

Yet, okayed by doctors, he reported for spring practice. Fifteen pounds below his normal 175 pounds, he fought for and won his regular place in the backfield.

"We tried to nurse him along but he wouldn't stand for it," said Coach Ed Danowski. "He insisted on staying out on the field doing sprints when all the
